FIDIS FI25 Crypto Index

Executive Summary

The FIDIS FI25 Crypto Index is our solution for minimizing your risk and maximizing your profits. No longer will you need to be concerned with selecting the next highest returning cryptocurrencies as our simple to own Ethereum-based token automatically allocates the most capitalized and highest trending cryptocurrencies into your investment basket. It reduces your trading costs by allowing you to purchase one crypto asset instead of twenty-five, and it facilitates easier asset management by eliminating the necessity for several different cryptocurrency wallets.

FI25 is backed by the top 25 cryptocurrencies (excluding stable coins). All underlying assets are held and secured by the top crypto custodians on the market and provide the real value behind FI25 tokens. Our FI25 Crypto Index token is the first in a series of crypto index tokens which FIDIS will be integrating into our mobile crypto application. The FIDIS App will allow users to buy, sell, save, send, and get a loan using FI25 and other upcoming tokens. Step up your cryptocurrency investment strategy with FIDIS's FI25 Crypto Index token!

It's simply a better alternative than Crypto ETFs!

FI25 Portfolio Allocation

The table to the right and the chart below represent the breakdown of the portfolio of holdings for a single FI25 token as of December 13th, 2021.

The first column shows the cryptocurrency included in the portfolio.

The second column shows the percentage that asset represents of the whole token's net asset value (NAV).

The third column shows the value of the asset as a part of the token price in USD. The last value on the chart, $24.83, is the current NAV of the FI25 token.

"Thousands of people have tried, and the evidence is clear: The more you trade, the less you keep."
